NORTH CAROLINA WESLEYAN

Through these doors they come
From Timonium, Derry and Cape
Porpoise
From Levittown, Towson and
Black Creek.
They come to grow in mind
and Spirit, Intelligence and soul.

This is a young place,
A place young and strong,
A place that is growing.
A place of people
People with youth and strength,
People that are growing.

4-43

A place with new ideas,
New Friends, new activities.
So many things new,
Yet the old ones too.
The questions, the doubts,
The work and the pranks,
Yet still time flies—Tempus Fugit.

The young mind sharpens,
The young soul soars,
Sharpens in logic and quickness,
Soars in thought and music.

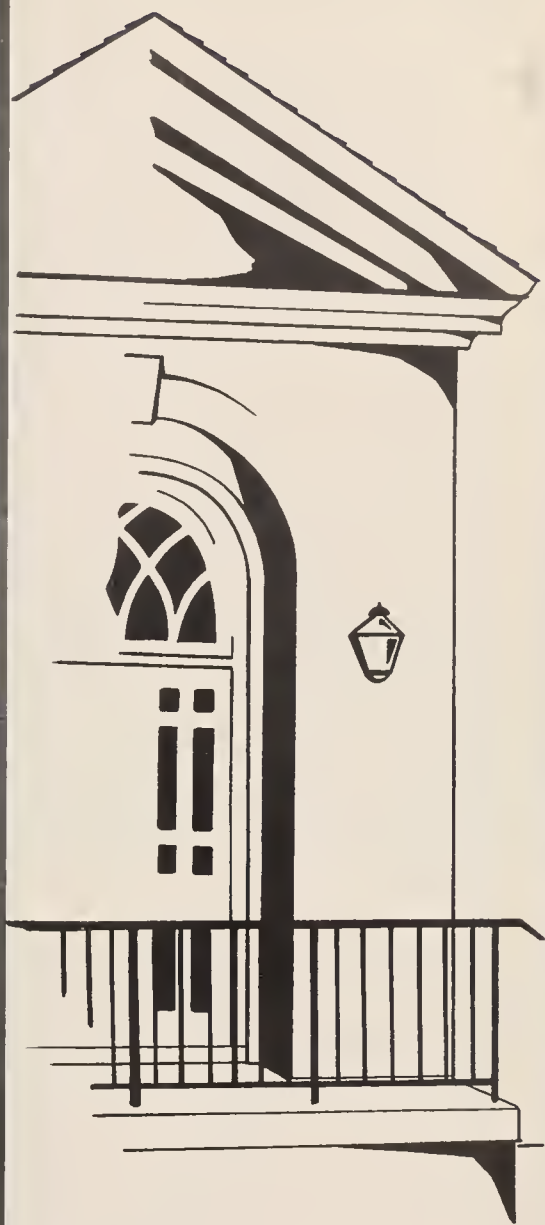

This will be an old place
Someday. A place old and strong.
BUT A PLACE STILL GROWING.

Science Division

The Division of the Sciences, led by Dr. Arch Sharer, offers either an A.B. or a B.S. degree in Biology, Chemistry, and Physics and an A.B. in Mathematics. Although limited in size because of our small student body, the division is growing, requiring the addition of several new staff members this year. Several lectures by outside speakers were offered for those students who wished to further broaden their knowledge and understanding of the part science occupies in modern society. Dr. Dan Johnson commuted from Chapel Hill during second semester to serve as part-time Professor of Chemistry.

SGA Senate

The Senate is the most important integral part of the Student Government Association at Wesleyan. It is a legislative body, a planning agency and functions as the general manager of the Student Government. Only in this body are all the facets of community life represented. This unique aspect enables the Senate to envision the entire community and conduct the business of the Student Government Association accordingly.

The Senate this year has tried to seek the viewpoint of the student, understand it and enact policies with this in mind. Working in this direction the Senate encourages constructive student opinion in all areas, because only in this way can the Student Government be truly a "student" government.

Community Council

The Community Council is the conscience of the community to encourage and stimulate the community toward the enactment of the Bill of Rights, a positive statement of the rights of everyone. It puts the emphasis on the belief that everyone is basically honest. The Community Council cements and unifies the different groups or areas of the community—faculty, staff and students. It is the body to which any member of the community may appeal to have a matter or issue investigated to restore harmony between areas of the community. The Community Council can investigate or recommend in any area where it finds a need for the boosting of morale, morals and principles. This year the Council was responsible for organizing and planning the community-wide Christmas banquet. It also made recommendations to various groups in the college community pertaining among other things to the upkeep of college property, the cafeteria situation and benches for the ping-pong room.

Student Life Association

The Student Life Association, composed of a chairman elected by the student body, the Director of Student Life, and the presidents of the Day Students', Men's and Women's Dormitory Councils, constitutes the judicial branch of the Student Government Association. The function of the SLA is "to maintain and enforce the rules and regulations of the Campus Code and to co-ordinate the various disciplinary councils it represents." Regulations concerning moral and ethical behavior are contained in the Campus Code.

The SLA, working through the three Councils, co-operates in providing effective penalties involving any major disciplinary problems and infractions of campus regulations. Any Council may refer a problem to the SLA for further study and for a decision as to the penalty or counseling to be awarded. Also included in the functions of the SLA is that function of giving official interpretations to rules appearing in the handbook when questions arise. The Student Life Association is a medium by which the principles essential to successful community living are upheld.

Day Students' Council

The Day Students' Council works with other acting judicial councils in the college community to serve the day students in all matters concerning his life at Wesleyan. The main aims of the council, composed of nine representatives, are to deal with any infractions of the Wesleyan Code, to promote friendship and good will among other members of the student body, to help students with any problem which may arise and finally to represent the day students in matters concerning the social life during his stay at Wesleyan.

Interfaith Commission

The Interfaith Commission, composed of representatives of student groups on the Wesleyan campus, functions to promote Christian ideals and mature spiritual growth within the student body. Throughout the year, the Commission has sponsored activities in which all students have been invited to participate. Students are encouraged to attend bi-weekly Sunday evening vesper services and take part in service projects such as visiting rest homes. Among the other projects sponsored by the Commission this year have been the placing of Grace cards on the cafeteria tables, providing help for a needy family at Thanksgiving, decorating the Student Union at Christmas and conducting a special Chapel Service at Christmas. The Commission also sponsored a candidate in the "Miss Mistletoe" contest, and set up a bureau for student placement in summer jobs. These activities have been sponsored by the Commission to encourage Christian service and fellowship on the Wesleyan campus.

Finance Commission

Seated: Wanda Exum, Mr. Kalmbach, Mr. Gay.
Standing: Dicky Moore, Vann Massey, Libby Wallace,
Guy Rouse, Royall Brown.

It is the duty of the Finance Commission to organize and supervise the budgets of the various commissions of the Student Government Association. This year the Commission instituted the use of ledger books for each commission. The Finance Commission in conjunction with the Business Office is the controlling factor in the financial operations of all the commissions. The members of the Finance Commission are as follows: Guy Rouse, Chairman; Libby Wallace, representative from the Interfaith Commission; Wanda Exum from the Social Commission; Dicky Moore from the Athletic Commission; Betty Anderson from the annual staff; Royall Brown from the handbook staff; Vann Massey from the "Decree"; Mr. Frank Kalmbach, faculty adviser; Bob Gay, representative from the Business Office.

Constitution Committee

Robert Stephens, Joan Lambirth, John Hines, Karen Hansen, Gary Carlow.

The Constitution Committee, a standing committee of the SGA, is charged with the responsibility of seeing that all constitutional changes are satisfactorily handled. The committee this year is concerned with expanding the constitution to meet the ever-expanding needs of the college. Plans are being made to include a club secretariat, an Inter-Fraternity Council, a permanent orientation committee and possibly a Panhellenic Council.

Elections Committee

Jim Pratt, Dan Jacobs, Walter White

The Elections Committee, the second standing committee of the SGA, is charged with the responsibility of seeing that all elections run accurately, smoothly and honestly. The Committee has made innovations this year, some of which are introducing voting booths and publishing a pamphlet concerning the "what-to-do" during the school Spring Election and to provide information about each candidate.

Social Commission

Social Commission's Christmas Dance

The social events on the North Carolina Wesleyan campus are organized and supervised by the branch of the SGA known as the Social Commission. This organization is responsible for the operation and upkeep of the campus juke box. It is rented on a monthly basis and selections are set at a minimum cost. It is the aim of the Social Commission to provide opportunities for students to have informal gatherings throughout the academic year. These range from a series of informal dances to talent shows and scavenger hunts. In addition to these informal "get-togethers" there are two major dances held at Wesleyan: the Christmas Semi-formal and the Spring Formal, highlighting the year's social events. The commission is composed of Steve Cherry, representative of the Freshman Class; Gay Finley, representative of the Sophomore Class; Evelyn Harris, representative of the Junior Class; and Terry Singer and Joe Norman, members appointed by the chairman, Wanda Exum.

Athletic Commission

The main function of the Athletic Commission is to set up and co-ordinate the athletic activities on the college campus. In order to keep interest and participation in athletics thriving, the Athletic Commission sponsored various social activities and tournaments. One of the major tournaments held on campus was the ping-pong tournament. The Commission awarded a trophy to the winner of the five round match. The Commission also sponsored a dance in March which was enjoyed by those who attended, including students from several high schools spending a weekend at Wesleyan.

Publications Commission

The Publications Commission has the responsibility of co-ordinating the separate publications—the newspaper, annual, and handbook—into one organized, functioning body. All three publications work through this commission to solve the problems which arise within the specific publication. The Commission was responsible for the successful operation of the dark room and picture file for the use of all publications. This spoke in the wheel of the SGA is continually seeking ways to meet the publication needs of the student body.

During the summer months, the editor, business manager, advertising manager, and several assistants began organizing the staff and working structure for the "Decree." The newspaper was printed bi-weekly in Nashville, N.C., on regular newsprint paper for the first time. The "Decree" joined the Intercollegiate Press Association from which it received news releases of other colleges which broadened the scope and outlook of the staff, the college paper, and the college community.

However, many of the summer plans were not completely initiated since Mary C. Hodgkin, Editor, resigned her position. The Business Manager, Susie Black, was appointed as the new editor with a capable assistant editor to help her re-organize the operations and staff. A general reshuffle of the staff was necessary requiring several old staff members to change positions, but new members were added to supplement the abilities and potentialities of the staff. Dr. C. Edwin Harwood, faculty adviser, helped initiate a program which offered constructive criticism to the reporters. In order to increase the quality of the writing, the staff printed guide sheets stating the step by step procedure for writing a good newspaper story. Amid the chaos of a changing administration and some alterations in policy and organization, the "Decree" was printed during the remainder of the year.

1963 WESLEYAN

LARRY MATTHEWS, Editor-in-Chief, discusses whether or not there will be any art work with BETTY ANDERSON, Managing Editor.

Once again, lights burned late in the annual office in the Student Union while the annual staff, or anyway a part of it, worked to assemble the pictures, copy, ads, and layouts which went into this 1963 NORTH CAROLINA WESLEYAN Annual. As to be expected, picture-taking ran thirty minutes behind time, no one could be found to write copy, and those deadlines came about two weeks early. Then the unexpected happened—a backward picture of the basketball team, a broken typewriter, the goal for the ads was met, and then a flat tire on the trip to Winston-Salem. In spite of these difficulties, time was spent attempting to open the doors through which the community at Wesleyan endeavors to achieve a liberal arts education and it is the wish of the 1963 annual staff that every facet of college life at Wesleyan be represented in this—the student body's annual.

Seated: Bill Creekmore, Jimmy Burnette. Standing: Christine Braswell, Ted Cooper, Betty Spain, Charles Hayes, Steve Cherry.

Phi Sigma, a service fraternity, organized on the Wesleyan campus December 15, 1962, elected its first officers in January of 1963. They are as follows: Royall Brown, President; Chet Murphy, Vice-President; Guy Turner, Secretary; Melvin Whitmore, Treasurer; Doug Zellner, Historian. At the present time Phi Sigma has restricted its service to ushering for college concerts and plays, however plans are being made to expand this program. A Projects Committee was appointed to explore the needs of the college and the community which can be filled by the fraternity. With its motto "Faithful Service," Phi Sigma strives to render service to the student body and faculty, to youths and the community, to members of the fraternity, and to the nation as participating citizens.

Phi Sigma

Wesleyan's growth has been remarkably shown in the growth of the new clubs and organizations of various types on the campus. These new groups offer students new extra-curricular activities and place new demands on students' time and energy.

Political organizations were the first organized after the service fraternity Phi Sigma. The Young Democrats Club at Wesleyan was given its charter on March 7 by Fred Ricci, President of the college Federation Young Democrats Clubs. Later it elected Judy Garriss as its first President. Other officers are: Kirk Woods, First Vice-President; Dave Brady, Second Vice-President; Evelyn Harris, Secretary; Richard Murdoch, Treasurer; William Taylor, Parliamentarian; Edna Langston, Historian. Among other things the group's activities this year included sending a delegation to the convention in Winston-Salem.

Not leaving the Democrats unrivaled, a Young Republicans Club was also formed on campus with the help of the group at East Carolina College. Vigorous efforts on the part of the members will provide an intensive summer membership drive for incoming students. The officers of the club are: Bill Morris, Chairman; Dennis Schulze, Vice-Chairman; Susan Burkle, Secretary; Al Rexroad, Treasurer.

In addition to political organizations, plans for a Monogram Club were completed. Membership in this club is open to those men who have participated in one previous season of a varsity inter-collegiate sport. Membership entitles one to receive a college sports monogram. A Psychology Club was also formed under the direction of Dr. H. E. Siedel, Jr. This organization is open to all students majoring or minoring in Psychology. It intends to bring in speakers who are specialists in various fields of Psychology to help students develop their interests.

Wesleyan Singers

The Wesleyan Singers, organized in 1960, has grown in three years from a small group of twenty-two to a full-fledged musical organization of over sixty members. The group has annually presented a Christmas concert and a spring concert in May. The repertoire of the group has varied from such works as Charpentier's "Midnight Christmas Mass" to groups or selections from "Porgy and Bess" and "West Side Story." The group has performed both in Rocky Mount and in nearby cities and plans are underway for a touring group in the future. Rehearsals are held three times weekly in Garber Chapel. Plans for the future include possible opera and operetta productions, oratorio performances for graduation festivities, and joint concerts with the Wesleyan Concert Band. The organization continues to grow and keep pace with the changing face of Wesleyan. The Wesleyan Singers represent, in many ways, a cross-section of the student body and, as the largest single student organization on campus, the group truly reflects the "spirit of Wesleyan".

Chapel Choir

The Chapel Choir is a select group of thirty voices chosen from the larger group of Wesleyan Singers. The Chapel Choir was organized in 1962 primarily to furnish music for weekly chapel services. Admission to the group is by invitation only and membership is considered a high honor. The group hopes to broaden its activities in future years to include special concerts both on and off the campus. There are also plans to organize a chamber group of madrigal singers. In December the group gave a special Christmas concert at the Englewood Methodist Church in Rocky Mount; other activities of this type are planned for the future.

Band

A new organization this year, the Wesleyan Concert Band, under the direction of Peter Gerschefski, provided the opportunity for students to perform significant musical works written or arranged for concert band. The band devoted considerable time in the fall and spring semesters to practicing for a projected spring outdoor concert. The band held elections for officers in January. The following members were elected to one-year terms: Baxter Myers, President; Lillie Mae Delamar, Vice-President; Marilyn Dowdy, Secretary; Cheryl Gorham and Arnold Adams, Librarians.

In addition to performing in the Concert Band, students with above-average musical ability could perform in any of the several small instrumental ensembles. During the fall there were frequent rehearsals of the Brass Ensemble. The group braved 15-degree temperature to perform carols on the steps of the Student Union Building prior to the Christmas banquet. In the spring, members of this ensemble joined with Dr. Sasser and his church choir in presenting Ralph Vaughn Williams' O Clap Your Hands.

The Woodwind Ensemble offered the competent player an opportunity to perform in a small chamber group. This group concentrated on music written especially for such small ensembles.

ATHLETICS

Field Day

The fall semester of college life always introduces a new group of students, wide-eyed with aspirations of making the most of their forthcoming years in college. Freshmen, as they are properly named, are called upon many times to display their intelligence and initiative. Wesleyan tradition states that a series of athletic events, Field Day, be played to determine the standing of the new students. These events find the confident upperclassmen on guard to uphold their position of authority and esteem. Thus it is a battle, pitting a hopeful Freshman Class with victory in their eyes, against a firm standing upperclass. In the fall of '62 the events played consisted of volleyball, basketball, football, and a tug-o'-war involving both male and female teams from each class.

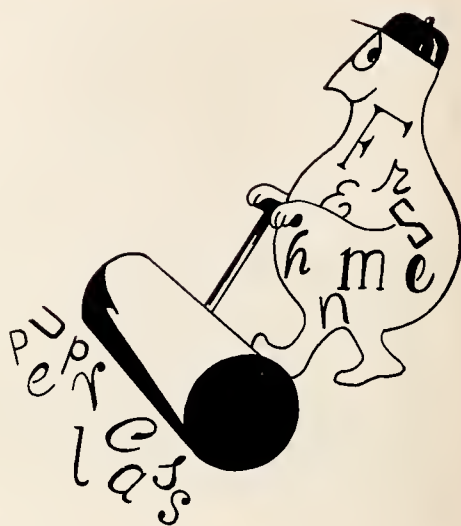

On the volleyball court victory found its team to be the quick-moving, high-jumping Frosh girls who easily won the first two matches. The Freshmen girls went on to a greater glory by overwhelmingly winning the basketball game over their die-hard opponents. The air was filled with upperclassmen's excuses and promises of winning the boys' forthcoming contests. But if the Frosh girls could win, why couldn't the boys? In a heated basketball game, the Freshmen boys proved their ability to dampen hopes of the confident upperclassmen by winning the game with a strong 60 to 39 lead. If this wasn't enough proof of their strength, the football game placed the laurel wreath triumphantly on the heads of the elated Frosh boys with another victory. All that remained of the Field Day was a tug-o'-war which was to be conducted over a water filled ditch. Upperclass girls found out what really constituted defeat by gloriously ending up in the pit. The only enjoyment experienced by the losing upperclass girls was the fact that 5 Frosh men were pulled into muddy depths.

Wearied from events well played, upperclassmen gracefully conceded their position of esteem by permitting happy freshmen to remove their blue beanies—all in the name of competitive sport.

Bishops

The Battling Bishops of Wesleyan, in their second year of intercollegiate baseball, played their six home games on the new baseball diamond located on the college grounds. The season's games, while producing a 2-9 record, were invaluable for the young team in providing experience for the time when Wesleyan reaches full college status.

Returning lettermen included pitchers, Ed Schultz and Bill Garlow; catcher, Gary Garlow; infielders, Jerry Miller, Wayne Cooper, and Larry Matthews; and outfielders, A. T. Neville and Dicky Moore. The team was strengthened by newcomers Don Sessoms, Don Everett, Lew Ransom, Dave Brady, Pete House, Billy Horner, Max Fitz-Gerald, and Ronnie Brockenbrough. The team was expertly tutored in the intricacies of baseball by Coach Raymond "Moe" Bauer. Dr. Bauer, Director of Physical Education and Assistant Professor of Education, is a graduate of Wake Forest College, a winner of the Harriess Sportsmanship Award and the most outstanding baseball player of the Big Four in 1950.

Tennis

Tennis broke into Wesleyan's sports activities in the 1962 season as the second intercollegiate sport. The first team was made up of players Joe Norman, Johnny Williams, Bruce Rampe, Louis Womble, Don Tippette, John Hines, Brad Dixon and Jerry Chesson. The double teams were usually paired off with Norman and Hines, Williams and Rampe and Womble and Tippette.

Much of the success of the team's first season goes to Col. Sam Hall, Assistant Professor of Mathematics and tennis enthusiast, who organized and coached the first team. The squad, while posting no victories, showed marked improvement as the season progressed and should be on a more even basis with competing colleges in the 1963 season.

Basketball

Wesleyan College was well-represented in the 1962-1963 basketball season when its first team, participated in the Rocky Mount Men's City League. The team, coached by Don Scalf and sponsored by Joyner's Athletic House, maintained second place in a league made up of many former college players. Coach Scalf, a former basketball player and graduate of Wake Forest College, was instrumental in bringing a successful season to the team. The starting team was made up of forwards Tom Dew and Bill Roberson, center Lloyd Nelson, guards John Edgerton and David George. This team will be the nucleus for the 1963-1964 season's Bishops who will compete in an inter-collegiate schedule in Wesleyan's new gymnasium.

Intramurals

The intramural sports program provides the opportunity for participation in planned team recreation in tennis, football, basketball, volleyball and other outdoor field activities. Four teams rivaled each other in a series of volleyball and football games. The result led to Joe Norman's team, the Sleepers, emerging champions in volleyball. The Knight's of Nash, managed by Ed Schultz, topped the other teams in all but one game, placing them as winners in the tag football competition. In the spring, arrangements were made to incorporate a series of ping-pong tournaments demonstrating athletic ability in an indoor sport.

Joe Norman halted by a brutal defense.

But where is the pass receiver?

A black and white photograph showing a large group of students, likely in a high school or college classroom, seated at their desks. The image is somewhat grainy and has a high-contrast, slightly overexposed appearance.

President; JIM POTEAT, Treasurer.
Standing: JOE BOLING, President;
BETTY ANN STEVENS, Secretary.

The Freshmen, in keeping with the tradition of past classes at Wesleyan, sponsored a Freshman Weekend consisting of a bonfire and hayride on Friday night and two football games and a dance on Saturday. Again this year the Freshman men and women challenged the upperclass men and women in football, giving them an opportunity to reverse the outcome of Field Day. The Freshman Class also chose a "Freshman of the Month" for his service and devotion to the class. An article announcing and interviewing this Freshman appeared in the college newspaper.

SOPHOMORE CLASS OFFICERS

ETTA BROWN SPIVEY, Secretary; JO LYNN FAULKNER, Treasurer; KEN TARLETON, Vice-President; ROBERT STEPHENS, President.

Under the leadership of its able officers, the Sophomore Class had a busy year. The first major project of the class was a Sadie Hawkins Dance in November which brought many students to the city of Dogpatch, U.S.A., to enjoy an evening of hill-billy fun and pleasure. As the new year opened, plans for a second project began to formulate. Cupid shot his mystical arrow; music broke forth from the Countdown Combo; and down came a queen from the Land of Hearts to reign for an evening in the midst of her fellow classmates. Thus brought to a close the major projects of the Sophomore Class, but never will there draw to a close the hopes and aspirations of this Class of '65.

As Wesleyan's first class moves into its third year, the Juniors continue to contribute much leadership in the Student Government Association and college community. This pioneering class has felt a strong sense of responsibility to continue to blaze the trail for succeeding classes, and its acceptance of this responsibility has been extremely rewarding to its members. The Juniors, a small and unified class, began preparing for graduation by undertaking several projects to make money. Committees were established for the purpose of selecting a gift to the college and considering other Senior class projects. As the Junior Class looks forward to graduation next year, it pledges continued leadership and service to Wesleyan.

A PRODUCT OF

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.

An aerial photograph of the North Carolina Wesleyan College campus. The image shows several large, modern academic buildings with flat roofs, interspersed with green lawns and clusters of trees. A wide road or driveway runs horizontally across the middle of the frame. In the lower-left corner, there is a large, dark, rectangular structure, possibly a library or a gymnasium. The entire photograph is partially covered by a large, white, rectangular overlay that contains text.
